The Investigation

ASHINGTON July 3 Before the Potter mmittee to day Estelle L Weber testified that conference held in New Orleans during the ar of 1876 was understood to have been led ut in behalf of Sherman For conversation with ator Sherman witness was assured that if ere no other should stand by his protest he uld be protected In compliance with a re t of Sherman witness went after bre ker and Anderson and informed them that isiting statesmen were desirous of seeing Anderson in reply said, "Tell them to shell" His brother however went to see him and they had a long conversation re ing the proposed Two or three days after curred, his brother showed the Sherman letter of insurance, and told Sherman gave it to him At the con sion of the conference relative to him stand by his protest he remarked it was the first day that time

Did your brother agree to stand by his ?

He hesitated about doing so but last well as considering the press ought to bear upon him nger—Did you have the Sherman letter in your ?

s—Yes sir I did

—What kind of paper was it written on

It was written on double sheet note

ness then showed the size of the paper, h was a sheet half the size of the sheet Mrs said the letter was written on the ed was written on single sheet com in letter paper Witness said it was ar d after the return by Kellogg, Mrs deKum to Packard to secure affidavits ring to the parishes of East and Feliciana the purpose of throwing out ranches He was assured by Kellogg others that would use his influence with le there to having him make the proper ments and would be returned to the Sen He was elected for the state senate by 1,200 votes and was returned by the re ng board as elected by about six hundred rity rell to Hurlbut witness stated that some ng statesmen had interviews with Eliza n in the custom house before she was ght before the returning board He thought of those who interviewed her was Senator n He was of the opinion that the Pinkerton outrage was a put up job nger—Did you see the affidavit of Eliza hanf, formerly Eliza Pinkston, published New York papers?

—Yes sir and to the best of my knowe and belief it is true

eber then related the circumstances as told m by his sister in law concerning the visits ks to Donaldsonville and read the following letter which was delivered to Mrs el Weber by Mrs Jenks

NEW ORLEANS, May 26, 1878

adame In the investigation now at to commence in Washington under the Potter resolu it is deemed important to have you there witness at once Mrs Jenks will bear this

Very respectfully,

L A SHERIDON.

Madam D A Weber Dear Madame Mrs Jenks desired Mrs Weber to go to ington and testify She did not know of existence of the Sherman letter Mrs er refused unless called upon by authority whereupon Mrs Jenks threatened to have rrested and taken to Washington this time or other of Mrs D A Weber to Donaldsonville and during Mrs Jenks t what that woman was doing there again, whether she was after Sherman letters Weber told her brother not to meddle her affairs that she had the Sherman letter did know what to do with it At this time Weber had not informed his sister-in law he had destroyed the document Mrs had told Mrs Weber that the letter was thousands of dollars and he would pay her a good price for it Jerk never intimated to Mrs Weber that anything to do with the authorship of herman letter, she always spoke of it as ter written by John Sherman assuring Wilders appointments under the administration Judge Shellabarger objected to the affidavit being put in evidence it ld never for the present ess subsequently in evidence a letter written by Judge Marks, a new internal revenue ctor at New Orleans wherein Marks re ed witness into him, (Marks) whether ad received an appointment he had ap ied for Information Marks would after that time Marks also requested st interview Mr Weber that he though ould secure the appointment as post ter at Donaldsonville or which she had applied and been unsuccessful, Marks being with Hayes at the time Hayes upon ment Mark promised to write this letter but Don Piatt requested Mrs Weber to make [illegible] the effect that she did never receive the communication letter During the visit Mark told witness and his sister in law that they were both to be summoned as witnesses before the investigating committee

After some further unimportant testimony witness was ordered to report to the Louisiana sub committee, when his cross examination by Gen Cox will be begun The committee then adjourned until July 10th

Attempted Assassination

RICHMOND, Va, July 3 An attempt was made at Sweetsburg Quebec, last evening to assassinate Edward S Goff, president of the Boston, Montreal and Portland railroad He was in his library conversing with his brother when two shots were fired through the window by some unknown person, who escaped. Goff was not injured

Politics in California

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3 —Official election returns have been received from all except seven counties besides San Francisco, in which the official canvass is not yet complete The counties yet to hear from will give a Non partisan majority The result of the count shows beyond a doubt that the Non partisans have elected all their 32 delegates at large and probably 54 county delegates, though they may lose one of that number The Kerneyites have elected [illegible] 52 county delegates, republicans 5, democrats 7 The Non partisans will thus have a majority in the convention of 15, and so over all others It must also be remembered that the republicans and democrats elected represent the conservative element. It is also true that none of the democrats from the interior on the workingmen's tickets are in sympathy with what is known as Kerneyism, and the same may be said of some of the city delegates The revolutionary element will form a small majority in the convention

Knights of Pythias

NEW YORK, July 3 The Knights of Allegheny Commandery No 35, of Pennsylvania, left this city for Liverpool yesterday en route for the Paris exhibition A number of their brother Sir Knights of this city and its suburbs saw them off Their departure was the scene of a grand ovation and all kinds of mutual good wishes were expressed

Fire

INDIANAPOLIS July 5 Wm G Abrams, who was convicted with the notorious Mrs Clem for the murder of Jacob Young and wife in 1867, and who has been in the state prison on a life sentence since 1869 was today pardoned by the governor

Circuit Court of Maryland

CAMDEN, N J —Benjamin Hunter, on trial here for the murder of Armstrong, was to night found guilty of murder in the first degree

By an act passed by the legislature last winter the case will be taken to the courts of error without an agreement before the present court, where it is thought a new trial will be granted

Wyoming Centennial

WILKESBARRE, July 3.—The opening exercises commemorative of the 100th anniversary of the battle and massacre of Wyoming took place to day with full 6000 people in attendance The president and party were met at Northumberland at 2 this morning by a reception committee, and along the route between Northumberland and Wyoming the greatest enthusiasm prevailed Every station was profusely decorated and the inhabitants turned out en mass to greet the president and bid him welcome, but few stops were made At some points the call for his excellency was so great that the president shook hands with as many as he could while at other stations he made short speeches thanking the people heartily for their pleasant greeting On arriving at Wyoming the party was escorted by the Trenton City Guards to the residence of Paine Pettibone, esq, and after having breakfasted they proceeded to the grand pavilion, where the order of exercises were immediately commenced. After music and the reading of a poem by Rev Mr Burrough of Lowell, Mass., a descendant of one of the survivors of the massacre, was announced and delivered, an oration and speech of welcome was made by Rev Mr. Hornbuckler, which was responded to by the president, who spoke of the object of this great gathering, touched on the causes of the battle and massacre, spoke of the wonderful development of the fairest valley in the world, its vast mineral deposits, the wealth, industry and happiness of its present inhabitants, etc, and closed his speech with much applause At its close he was presented with a cane from a tree which grew at the time of the massacre This gift came from 1000 ladies of Wyoming valley After other addresses the benediction was pronounced and the assemblage quietly dispersed

The Democrats Do Not Agree

NEW PHILADELPHIA, OHIO, July 3 The democratic congressional convention of the 15th district has been in session here two days 000 ballots have been taken and no choice has been on the 35th ballot Ayes 30 o'clock he cast on the 35th ballot Ayes 30 o'clock he cast vention adjourned to meet in Mt Vernon the last Wednesday in July

Sad Drowning Accident

NEW LONDON Ct, July 3—David Trumbull who rowed number 7 in the recent Yale Harvard race on the Thames, and Col Charles M Coit treasurer of the Chelsea savings bank, Norwich were drowned in New London harbor this afternoon A little son of Col Coit falling overboard from a yacht his father and Trumbull sprang after him The yacht hove to as soon as possible and the child was taken on board by his uncle who was in the boat Before she could round again both men sank

The Races at Louisville

LOUISVILLE KY, July 3—It is estimated that the attendance at the races to day exceeded 16,000 It is probable that most of them were strangers In the first race a dash of 1½ miles Harkaway and Belle of Nelson, started, the former winning with great ease Time, 2 46¼ In the second race, ½ of a mile heats Joe Ryle Stella and Glenlaha started, each heat resulting in the order named Time 1 16¼ 1 18¾, 1 21 In the last race, a dash of 1¼ miles Tilano, Jno R Sweeney and Jim Bell started and the race resulted in the above order Time 2 17½ The three winners were favorites Louisville is ablaze with decorations and wild with enthusiasm over to morrow's great event and the very certainty of its result renders an excitement never known before not even when the great Gray Eagle Wagner came to Louisville Strangers have been pouring in on every train and thousands more will arrive to night and to morrow morning

The East St Louis Affair

ST LOUIS, July 3 The East St Louis coroner's inquest proceeded this afternoon with closed doors and nothing is known of the testimony given It is charged that the coroner's jury consists of anti Bowmanites, excepting one man who protested against the Star Chamber arrangements, and that the whole affair is conducted in the interest of the Wilderites and Metropolitans County Attorney Brockhaus was present at the inquest and was chiefly instrumental in the exclusion of reporters The feeling among non partisan citizens is said to be strong against the 'arbitrary' ruling of Coroner Canty and the action of Brockhaus Of course the Bowmanites and deputy marshals are bitter in their denunciations of the coroner, Brockhaus and all Wilderites who have had anything to do with the matter, but they are forced to submit The inquest was adjourned this afternoon till Friday morning Shortly after the adjournment a young man named Bergen, said to be one of Bowman's deputies, assaulted Brockhaus on the stage, striking him in the face and otherwise maltreating him Brockhaus made no resistance, thinking, it is said, he did it would bring about another conflict The feeling on both sides is very bitter and it would not take a great deal to cause a general fight

FOREIGN.

Condition

LONDON, July 3 Advices from Bosnia report that there are forty thousand Turkish troops in Bosnia and Herzegovina and twenty thousand between Novi Bazar and Pristina The Austrian army of occupation will number 14 000 men, owing to the hostile attitude of the population of both provinces but no military resistance is anticipated The instructions from the Porte to Turkish plenipotentiaries in the congress authorized the latter to consent to the occupation by Austria, the conditions of occupation to be previously determined the strength of the army of occupation to be fixed and the occupation confined to certain limits

Gathering and the Pope

LONDON, July 3 The following is the programme of the four oared races at Henley, in which the Americans row, July 4th At 1.30 the first heat of the Steward's Challenge Cup race in which the Columbia crew of New York, the Dublin University crew and the Shoreditch crew are entered, at 2 o'clock the first heat of the Visitors' Challenge Cup, in which the Columbia College crew is entered, at 3.30 the second heat of the Stewards Challenge Cup, at 7 30 the second heat of the Visitors' Challenge Cup The final heats will be rowed July 5th

A later dispatch from Henley says in order that the Columbias two heats may not be so near, the heats of the Visitors Challenge Cup race have been reversed, and to accomodate Edward Eemers who rows at Paris, Lee and he will row the first trial heat of the Diamond challenge scull race instead of the third as at first arranged. The Prince of Wales will attend the regatta out of compliment to American oarsmen The Sporting Life this morning says the Columbias have improved in style considerably during the last fortnight, so that a few persons now begin to think they have a good outside chance for the Visitors' Challenge Cup The Shoreditch crew are going very fast—to all appearance, terrifically fast an impression conveyed by the quick short stroke at which they row This crew are wonderfully well together and appear to be in splendid condition, never exhibiting the slightest failure upon pulling up, and the only complaint they appear to have is that the course is not long enough for them.

Gathering and the Pope

LONDON, July 3. There is much difference of opinion among Berlin politicians regarding the intention of the government in publishing the letters of the German Emperor and Crown Prince to the Pope in reply to his notification of his accession Some persons think it is a sign that peace will soon be concluded between the church and state, while others put the opposite interpretation upon the event The Berlin correspondent of the Times says the government can not hope to secure ultramontane support in this election or in the new house The conservatives are isolated, they may gain a few seats in prevailing socialists and anti socialist elements, although they cannot expect anything like a majority The result of it all is that Prince Bismarck will find it difficult to dispense with liberal support though the liberals may be unwilling ever to raise supplies after a fashion which would tend to make the government practically independent of annual votes

Turkey's Conditions

VIENNA July 3 Intelligence has been received from Berlin that it is settled that Servia shall retain Pirot in Servia The Political Correspondence confirms the statement that the porte has authorized its plenipotentiaries at Berlin to give conditional assent to the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina by Austria, but the Correspondence considers it scarcely probable that the conditions proposed by the porte will receive favorable consideration

REPUBLICAN CALL.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF COLORADO. DENVER, COL., JUNE 12, 1878.

At a meeting of the Republican State Central committee, held at this place, it was ordered that the State Republican convention be held on the 7th of August, 1878, at Denver, Colorado, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for one governor, one lieutenant governor, one secretary of state, one state treasurer, one auditor of state, one superintendent of public instruction, two regents of the University, one attorney general, and one representative in congress; and transact such other business as may be deemed necessary. The committee fixed the basis of representation in this convention at one delegate for each county, and one delegate for every one hundred votes or fraction thereof exceeding fifty, polled for Governor Routt at the general election in 1876. In accordance with the above the following apportionment for representation was determined upon:

Arapahoe	23	Jefferson	6
Boulder	16	Lake	3
Bent	4	Larimer	5
Costilla	5	La Plata	2
Conejos	4	Las Animas	8
Clear Creek	12	Ouray	4
Custer	3	Park	6
Douglas	4	Pueblo	6
Elbert	3	Rio Grande	5
El Paso	8	Routt	2
Fremont	3	San Juan	4
Gilpin	11	Saguache	4
Grand	2	Summit	3
Gunnison	2	Weld	9
Huerfano	5
Hinsdale	5	Total	177

The Committee requests the various counties to make, as soon as practicable, provision for the selection of delegates.

W. H. PIERCE, Chairman.

Republican County Convention.

COLORADO SPRINGS, June 25th, 1878.

The republican convention of El Paso county will be held at city hall in Colorado Springs on Saturday, July 20th, at 2 o'clock p. m. It will be the duty of said convention to appoint a county committee for the ensuing year; to choose eight delegates to attend the state convention in Denver on the 7th of August, and to nominate the following candidates, to-wit: One senator and two representatives for the general assembly, also one county commissioner.

It is suggested that the republicans of the county meet in their respective precincts on Saturday, July 13th, to nominate candidates for the offices of precinct justice of the peace and constable, appoint precinct committees, and select delegates to the said county convention, in which precincts will be entitled to representation upon the following basis: One delegate for each precinct and one additional delegate for every 25 votes or fraction thereof exceeding 12, cast for Governor Routt in 1876. With such ratio as the basis the following apportionment is made:—

Precinct No. 1 Bijou Basin	2	Delegates.
" " 2 Bakely's Mill	2	"
" " 3 Monument	3	"
" " 4 South Water	2	"
" " 5 Colorado City	2	"
" " 6 Colorado Springs	15	"
" " 7 Fountain	3	"
" " 8 Woodbury's	2	"
" " 9 Summit Park	2	"
" " 10 Florissant	2	"
" " 11 Manitou	3	"
" " 12 Four Mile	2	"
" " 13 Little Fountain	2	"
" " 14 Edgerton	2	"
" " 15 Big Sandy	1	"

By order of the republican county committee.

N. S. CULVER, Chairman.

What Shall The Platform Be?

We are thus witnessing the amusing spectacle of two sets of party managers constructing platforms without a single sound timber, and out of planks so old and rotten that they can hardly be kept from falling to pieces while the work of building goes on. The republican leaders, having agreed to "ignore" the only live thing in politics—Mr. Hayes and his policies—have nothing but the "rebel claims" bugbear left, now that "Revolution" has been knocked in the head. The democrats, unable to "point with pride" to a session which has disgusted the country, have to fall back on the "Fraud" developments of the Potter committee. It is hard to tell which is the less inspiring, or the more disgusting, of these clap-trap issues upon which alone two great parties ask the support of the country.—Springfield Republican.

We clipped the above from an editorial in the Springfield Republican on the "Independent voter's duty." It is important as indicative of the estimation in which both parties are held by that large and we may say, controlling class in politics, the independent voters. There is no doubt but that the clear and unmistakable utterances of the Cincinnati platform, together with the frank, manly letter of Mr. Hayes drew a large number of independent voters to the support of the republican ticket. The leaders of the famous Fifth Avenue conference very largely advocated the election of Mr. Hayes because they thought the republican party would carry out the promises made in the platform and in the letter. Since the inauguration, however, the tone of the Republican leaders in Congress has greatly changed and they not only do not hesitate to style those promises as sentimental twaddle but even denounce Mr. Hayes for trying to keep the faith of the party.

It is needless to specify more than one particular to show this. The National platform specifically states that inasmuch as Senators were to pass judgment on all nominations, they ought not to exert any influence on the president in determining the names to be nominated for their approval. The President has endeavored to carry out this part of the republican platform, and for so doing has incurred the bitterest opposition of the senatorial clique who desired to control the patronage in their own states. Last year the republicans of Massachusetts fully appreciated the position taken by the party in 1876 and affirmed in their platform that "we endorse the utterances of the Cincinnati platform and of the letter of acceptance of Mr. President Hayes on this subject (i. e, civil service reform); that nominations to office ought to be made upon the sole responsibility of the executive department without the dictation or control of the members of congress; that honesty, capacity and fidelity constitute the only claim and qualification for office; that partisan service should not be expected or desired from officers, etc.

The republican state conventions have thus far totally ignored Mr. Hayes with the exception of Indiana and Ohio. The general tone of the republican press of this state favors the same course. What will be the effect of this course on the independent voter? Under ordinary circumstances we should say that he would either vote the democratic ticket or stay at home. But fortunately for us the democratic party blundered so during the last session that even a man disgusted with the republican party will hesitate a good while before he will do anything to place such a party in power. Our strength is in democratic blundering.

The independent vote has not been a determining factor in this state as it has been in Ohio and New York. But nevertheless there is no inconsiderable class in this city who heartily approve of Hayes' administration and most emphatically condemn the course of many republican leaders in congress. These are sure indications that there is a strong class springing up who care more for purity of government than for party success. No reaffirmation of war issues or bugbears of rebel claims and revolution will win their vote. Though the republican party may carry the state with most any kind of a platform, yet it is best to be on the safe side. It is a question which should be seriously weighed by every person interested in the success of the republican party in this state, whether democratic weakness shall be our sole strength. We would like to see positive utterances on the greenback question and on other really vital issues. If the republican party of Colorado is in sympathy with the last declaration of principles by the national party, we trust it will be wise enough to say so.

Not An El Paso County Man.

To the Editor of the Gazette:—

SIR:—I see in this morning's paper that you take occasion to comment upon a paragraph that lately appeared in the Denver Tribune to the effect that El Paso county would, at the next republican convention, probably advance claims to the office of state treasurer, with Hon. D. C. Crawford as candidate for the office. The comments which you saw fit to make on the subject undoubtedly express the sentiments of nearly every republican in this county. Mr. Crawford has many friends here who will always rejoice to hear of his prosperity, yet it is impossible for them to consider him an El Paso county man. He has no claims on the county whatever, neither has the county any claims upon him.

What the republicans of El Paso county may claim at the coming convention is very uncertain; but in any event, if a man is put forward for office he will be one who is permanently identified with the interests of the county. In the meantime, although the Tribune means well by Mr. Crawford, who is certainly entitled to any little lift which that paper can give him, it may as well spare itself the trouble of selecting our possible candidates for office.

El Paso county doesn't expect much in the way of nice state offices. It is too strongly republican for the republican politicians at Denver to be afraid of; but when we do have an office thrown to us we would like to select our own man to fill the place.

OUT WEST.

In a few weeks the Enterprise Chronicle will appear in daily form.

Silverton is reported to be more lively and prosperous than ever before.

A brickmaker at Howardsville has received orders for over 400,000 brick.

Importers of blooded stock are at present doing a large business in Colorado.

One day recently 49,400 head of Texas cattle were in sight from the cupola of the Dodge City court house.

A new democratic paper, styled the Courier, will start at Fort Collins with Watrous & Pelton as editors.

The Chicago Times pronounces the Congress which has just adjourned the least respectable and most contemptible.

The L. C. & Ft. K. R. R. is proposing to build through Republic county, if the people will vote $4,000 a mile for that purpose.

A ledge of the finest kind of jet used in jewelry, worth $100,000 a ton, has just been located, and is being worked in a California canon.

The Beloit Gazette says there are 7000 sheep in the eastern part of Mitchell county, and yet Kansas is reported as not being a sheep-raising country.

The oil well of Cassiday, Canfield & Slater, near Canyon City, is now down 400 feet with a change of rock, which indicates the near approach of oil.

Professor Edison will start from New York for Colorado on the 8th of July, accompanied by Professors Draper, Barker, and other scientists from that section of the country.

Crops in Pottawatomie county are in a better growing condition, look more thrifty, and have a better appearance generally, than almost anywhere on the K. P. road east of Independence.

The new sampling works of Eddy & James have commenced work. Their machinery is of the latest and most approved make and we bespeak for them a liberal patronage. Leadville Reveille.

Fifty tons of copper now lie in El Moro waiting shipment east. This comes from the inexhaustible mines of New Mexico and Arizona. The copper now arriving will load one car or upwards per day.

The product of sixteen Leadville mines which are producing milling ore is reported at 50 tons daily. The St. Louis Smelting company, at the same place, is said to be shipping 45 tons of bullion and 22 tons of ore weekly.

Information has been received that some prospectors who came in with the Hess party, have struck rich diggings on Dry Creek. The distance is about twelve miles from Ouray, and five men were at work on Tuesday.

The Silver King, of Arizona, has just declared its seventh successive monthly dividend of fifty cents a share, payable on the 30th of May. This mine with this dividend did pay back to its shareholders $350,000 in seven months.

The Sunshine Courier states that the Smuggler mine at present gives employment to forty men, on an average, working on mine leases. The yield of the mine is $8000 per month, giving handsome returns to both owners and lessees. The ten-stamp mill is running night and day on low grade ore.

Messrs. Rodda & Co., lessees of the Hidden Treasure mine at Nevadaville, are meeting with great success in working the lode. Since the 1st ult. they have taken out 122 ounces of gold. Eleven cords taken out last week ran 88 ounces, or eight ounces to the cord. This mine promises as finely as any mine in Gilpin county. Register-Call.

The Baxter mine, on Republican mountain, has yielded about $150,000 net since discovery, one-third of this amount being clear profit to its owners. The present product is about $45,000 per year. It not only takes a good mine, but good management as well, to make a mine pay for its own development and an average profit of 33 per cent. Georgetown Courier.

El Moro must be a lively outfitting point at present, for 235 new wagons were received at that place during the month of May, and most of them immediately sold. The blacksmith and wagon repairing shops there now employ more than fifty men, and have more work than they can do, working twelve hours per day.

A company of Chinese miners have lately worked over some old ground on Blue Ravine, near the cemetery at Rough and Ready, and with most satisfactory results to themselves. This ground has been worked over frequently since the early days of California mining, and as frequently abandoned, when the pay dirt was considered exhausted. It was no longer believed to be even "Chinese diggings." Recently Chinamen went to work in the ravine, and, in a couple of weeks have taken out $1,500. Such strikes are not infrequent in old diggings which some enthusiasts claim establishes their theory that "gold grows," but does show that many a rich little place escaped the notice of the first eager gold seekers. Grass Valley (Cal.) Union.

A report of the attendance at the various Sabbath schools of the city has recently been prepared, and the Tribune is permitted to make some extracts from it which we are sure will be of interest to the readers of the paper. The following table shows the attendance at the schools of the various denominations in the city:

	Pupils.	Adults.	Teachers.	Total.
Baptists	700	40	20	250
Congregationalists	430	20	17	270
Presbyterians	1047	47	38	774
Methodists	806	131	112	1049
Episcopalians	430	21	43	474
Christians	75	15	15	105
Total	2358	274	298	2924

Lord Beaconsfield at Berlin.

Lord Beaconsfield's departure for Berlin yesterday was not so dazzling and impressive a sight as the embarkation of Her Britannic Majesty's Guards for the East or the sailing of a great ironclad fleet for the Baltic would have been. But when sober-minded Englishmen weigh well the significance of this journey, and reflect on all the tremendous sacrifices which their country in all human probability has escaped through the wise and daring and determined policy of which it is the visible and victorious culmination, they will be ungrateful indeed if they do not render to the great head of the Conservative Government of England such [illegible] honors [illegible]. It is long since any English statesman has played so decisive a part in the politics of Europe as Lord Beaconsfield is now called upon to fill, and it is longer yet since any English statesman has won for himself by his own virtually unassisted courage and foresight the opportunity to play so decisive a part. Forty years ago Lord Palmerston preserved the peace of Europe by a policy as cool and energetic as that of the Tory leader, in circumstances quite as complicated and alarming as those through which Lord Beaconsfield has held on his way, but Lord Palmerston was much more resolutely supported than Lord Beaconsfield has been, and he had advantages in the dangerous game he played which Lord Beaconsfield has never commanded. Like Lord Beaconsfield, it is true, he had to contend with a very general disposition on the part of the more influential classes of England to underrate his abilities and to distrust his character. But in his case this disposition was not embittered, as it has been in the case of Lord Beaconsfield, by the prejudices and the jealousies of caste. To this hour and among his own followers it is the fashion in England to sneer at the Premier who, after lifting the Conservative party to power at home, has redeemed England from practical insignificance in the councils of Europe abroad, as an adventurer and a trickster in politics. During the whole progress of the contest over the Eastern question Lord Beaconsfield personally has been assailed by the English liberal press and by English liberal politicians with a malignity and brutality quite as scandalous as ever marked any recent political contest in our own country. The statesman who has kept the control of public opinion at home against such attacks, while at the same time he was conducting negotiations of the most delicate and hazardous sort abroad in direct antagonism to the interests and the influence of one of the greatest of European monarchies, has made for himself definitely and forever a conspicuous place among the leaders of men. New York World.

A Paris bookseller has published a series of ninety letters written by Mme. de Pompadour. It is not certain whether these letters throw new light on the character of the most celebrated mistress of Louis XV., but a portion of the correspondence is undoubtedly witty and interesting. Several of the letters now printed for the first time were written by the Marquise to her brother, Abel Poisson, who, for his sister's sake, was accorded the title of Marquis de Vandieres. The wits of the court, in allusion to his recent creation, insisted on calling him the Marquis d'Si., and-heir. Mme. de Pompadour seems to have taken almost as much interest in forming the character of her brother as Lord Chesterfield did that of his son; and both were alike easy on the score of morality. In managing the military operations of the kingdom she had occasion to write to a lady friend for "a little map of Germany." She had been told that such a map might be procured at Strasburg. If Mme. de Lutzelbourg would only send her three, she would be happy to pay for them. The Marquise then went on to say that she hated the Lutherans, "who love the king of Prussia" the monarch who had presumed to speak lightly of her, and to call her Coutlon I. Passing then to more feminine matters, she added, "Send me the dress at once, since you find it pretty; I have some notions of embroidery as an addition; send it by the first courier." Concerning the Parisians, the Marquise speaks in these letters with great contempt. They had gone the length of accusing the Well-Beloved of having children kidnapped and slain so that he might bathe in their blood. She would have liked to see these ungrateful people "decimated and hanged." Before that moment she had simply considered the Parisians as "stupid and ill-natured."

LITERARY ITEMS.

Professor H. Graetz's History of the Jews, which occupies eleven volumes, is to appear in English, condensed by the author into three volumes. Miss Lowry, daughter of the Rev. Dr. A. Lowry, will make the translation from the German.

Charles Reade's letters on "The Coming Man," who is to use his left hand as well as his right, and one of the English history books, "The Settlement of the Constitution," by James Rowley, will straightway be added to the Harper Half-Hour books.

Mr. J. R. Green enjoys the unusual honor of calling forth a commentator during his own lifetime. Mr. C. W. A. Tait, of Clifton College, has prepared an "Analysis of Green's Short History of the English People," which Mr. Green commends for use in schools.

A writer in The Deutsches Montagsblatt, notes The Academy, devotes an article to Bayard Taylor and the question of American reprint, on the text of Mr. Taylor's hope that he might be the means of concluding an accord between America and Germany on the question of copyright. The writer of the article pleads in favor of the present system, at least for newspapers, on the score that the papers are too poor to pay for original contributions, and that if reprints were forbidden a very large colony of Germans would be cut off from all spiritual communion with their Fatherland.

"Gemine," the pleasant little New England story just published, will probably be the last volume of fiction, it is intimated, in the "No Name Series," which certainly has been a gratifying success to the publishers, Messrs. Roberts Brothers. "Rococo," the volume of poems by various leading English and American poets, writing anonymously, which Mr. George Parsons Lathrop is editing, will, however, appear during the early autumn, and be one of the same series.

MARRIED:—In Colorado Springs, July 3, 1878, by Rev. J. A. Stayt, Mr. Geo. B. Southcot and Miss Edith J. Shideler, all of Colorado Springs.

While we write we can hear guns firing, anvils booming, crackers and torpedoes snapping, in fact a general jollification is in progress. Rah for July the four times.

We learn that Col. Bacon has added to his already large stud, three horses of the Bashaw stock, for single driving. He has found this necessary owing to the great demand for livery horses.

Parents should be careful in allowing their children to handle and use fire arms to-day. A great many accidents invariably take place from this source, hence our caution.

We are pleased to welcome among us, Mr. C. L. Todd, formerly a resident of Pleasant Hill, Missouri. He has come to this city to reside and has entered into partnership with Mr. J. T. Treadwell in the west business.

Mrs. Wm. B. Young, formerly of this city, died at her late residence in Golden yesterday morning. Her daughter arrived from New York a few hours before her death. The remains will be sent east for interment. All the earlier residents of Colorado Springs will sympathize deeply with the bereaved family.

The excursion train for Alamosa leaves the depot this morning at 7 o'clock, sharp. The tickets have been limited, and by this means the management insures no crowding, but comfortable seats for all who go. Make up your minds in a hurry and we will guarantee no disappointment. The ticket office at the depot will be open for the sale of tickets at 6 a. m.

Manitou already begins to have all the appearances of an Eastern watering place, and the gayety and handsome toilets around the hotels make it a pleasure to visit them. The evening hops held alternately at the Beebee and Manitou houses are a great attraction to these popular resorts, the music being furnished by the quartette just arrived from Topeka under the management of Professor Gardner.

On Tuesday afternoon the counsel of H. A. McIntire appeared before judge Hallett and asked that the bond be reduced from $10,000 to $5,000, on the ground that Mr. McIntire could not get bail in the former sum and that his release was necessary in order that his counsel may make a proper defense. Judge Hallett deferred his decision of the motion until the grand jury should take action. Afterwards the counsel of Mr. McIntire obtained on their own responsibility bondsmen. Mr. McIntire is now free from government custody.

During the visit of the county commissioners to the jail yesterday, one of the prisoners complained to the board that the prisoners "didn't get nothing to eat." The commissioners said they thought they must have had something, when the fellow said, "O, yes, but only meat, potatoes, bread and coffee." He then remarked that the strawberry season was nearly over and they hadn't had a single berry. We think this treatmen is simply terrible, and we hope the commissioners will immediately "order up" a course of strawberries and ice cream, with a full complement of cake and other delicacies.

The Coming Eclipse.

We are indebted to Mr. William Black, of the signal corps, for the following information regarding the coming eclipse of the sun July 29th: The first contact or commencement of the eclipse occurs at 2 hours 17 minutes p. m., local time. Total obscuration begins at 3 hours 32 minutes p. m., and ends at 3 hours 35 minutes p. m., making the duration of totality 3 minutes. The last contact or end of phenomena occurs at 4 hours 32 minutes pm. The only station in the path having a longer tatality than Pike's Peak is Denver, which exceeds by only one second.

Mr. Black has received a letter from the chief signal officer to give public notice that Pike's Peak being a government reservation, no person not connected with the service or its observations, or without special authority will be allowed within 100 yards of the station or any observing party on the day of the eclipse, July 29, 1878.

Attention, Company B.

Members of Company B, First Colorado Cavalry, are hereby ordered to present themselves in uniform and with horses at the company's armory at eight o'clock this morning, sharp. By order of

CAPT. T. H. BURNHAM,
Commanding Co. B.

County Commissioners.

Stevens—Dainty.

The entertainments given by Miss Stevens and Mrs. Dainty have been highly spoken of by the press of the state.

Mrs. Dainty has a high reputation as an elocutionist and has fascinated all who have heard her by her charming and unaffected manner. Miss Stevens is the daughter of the president of the North Western railroad company. She graduated from Vassar college recently, and has since given her whole attention to music. The following notice was given by the Tribune of Miss Stevens' first appearance in Denver:

Miss Stevens is seventeen years old, easy and graceful in carriage, light golden hair, blue eyes, and sweet expression. In her movements she is quick and sprightly. She was dressed in blue silk last evening, with drapery of flowers. Her repertoire consisted of compositions by Weber, Mendelssohn, Liszt and Soderman, the latter composer being selected as an encore—the Swedish Wedding March. Though a student, as Miss Stevens insists upon calling herself, the lady must be accorded a prominent position on the scroll of piano artists. She is exceedingly modest in her performance; no throwing of the hands; no flurry or fuss; no painful twists of the body; but an easy, cool style—self-possessed and graceful. For such slight wrists, the power of her touch is wonderful, and there is a precision and certainty in the runs and staccato strokes seldom acquired. Her execution of Liszt's march "Rakoczey" was superb, brilliant, and the intelligence and high conception of the composer's grand idea were sufficiently displayed in the use of the pedals alone. There were most of our local musicians in the audience, and the heartiness of their applause noted by the writer, was the best of compliments. Miss Stevens has won Denver. No one present last evening but will sing her praises to-day. The floral tributes were numerous and elegant; one a basket of flowers, very rich in design.

Such entertainments should be encouraged, and we trust it will be liberally patronized this evening.

The Sangre de Cristo Mines.

Mr. M. M. Giles, of Alamosa, brought in some specimens of ore from the Sangre de Cristo mines, mostly gold-bearing quartz and a few specimens of silver ore. The specimens from Cottonwood camp are principally silica quartz and decomposed hematite, with black sulphurets and iron pyrites. An assay has shown $540 gold to the ton.

Another specimen shows black sulphurets in silver quartz, of which a plain mill run by open amalgamation, gave returns of $10 per ton, without oxidation. Assays from the sulphurets have given returns of $120 per ton.

There are a number of rich specimens of decomposed brown hematite, showing free gold.

The results of a prospect from two ounces of hematite quartz, showed plain colors of free gold.

Other specimens of hematite are covered with sulphide of gold.

A specimen from a silver bearing lode twenty-seven feet wide, shows indications of silver, but no assays have as yet been made. There are hundreds of tons in sight.

Several other specimens, picked up in various parts of the Sangre de Cristo camps revealed free gold by oxidizing and washing.

The entire lot of specimens which may be seen at this office, lead one to the belief that rich mines are soon to be developed in the Sangre de Cristo range.—Alamosa News.

FROM SAN JUAN.

EUREKA, SAN JUAN CO., COL., June 22, 1878.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

I see it stated in the Engineering and Mining Journal that Colorado is at present the most prosperous state in the union. Of this, there can be no question. And certain it is, southern Colorado never before made the rapid strides in increase of population, wealth, and permanent improvements, etc., as at the present time, and as will be made this year.—From every portion of the east, from California, from Europe,—men and money are attracted by the unrivalled inducements offered for investments in mines, ranches, and stock, and by its unsurpassed climate.

The general and protracted business depression felt throughout the civilized world, is no longer felt in Colorado, she having risen by the strength of her own resources to an independence unknown to any other state of the union. And, as the resources by which she has risen are permanent and inexhaustible, so, too, must be her prosperity.

In no portion of Colorado are the hopes and expectations in regard to the present and future prosperity more bright than in this, the southwest corner. Every branch of business carried on here is prosperous, and I see no idle men. The mine-owner without means is no longer in straits in regard to the procurement of "grub," for his labor is in demand, and in the numerous works for the reduction of ores which are springing up in every portion of the mining region, he sees the approach of his expectations, whether they are to dispose of his unexhumed wealth by a single sale, or in a market for the ores he shall extract.

The expectation of being able to realize from the sale of ores is daily reducing the number of those who desire to sell out. They see in this a steady and permanent income and an ever enhancing value of their properties. It is having an effect, too, in stimulating the prices of the mines which are offered for sale.

The Crook Bros., of New York, who have extensive works at Lake City, have purchased further interests in the now celebrated North Star mine. It is now owned by them and J. S. Reef. A lease for the working of the mine is about to be let, the parties taking it to have one-fourth of the ore. The mine is undeveloped, having neither tunnel or drift. The work on their smelter, two miles above Silverton, is commenced. They expect to have it completed and running before winter. It is to be of twenty tons per day capacity.

The Rough and Ready works at Silverton are changed into sampling works, the need of which has long been felt at that place.

Three automatic drills, worked by compressed air, are soon to be placed in the Bonanza tunnel at Mineral City. This tunnel, and the veins which it will tap, are owned by F. J. Pratt of New York. He is pushing his works of development to the utmost. The tunnel is now in over 300 feet.

The road between this and Animas Forks is yet blockaded by the snow of the deposits of the heavy avalanches of the past winter in several places, but will be opened the coming week.

CHEYENNE CANON ICE.

It is an undisputed fact, that impure ice is as unhealthful and dangerous to use as impure water. And believing that the wants of this community would justify me, and that an effort to supply a good and pure article would be appreciated, I built, at a great expense, a large reservoir, which I filled from the pure sparkling water of Cheyenne Canon, and from which I cut and stored a large quantity of ice of the most unquestionable purity.

T. E. JOHNSON.

We, the undersigned, residing in the neighborhood of Cheyenne Canon, fully endorse the above, and take pleasure in recommending the ice, knowing it is what it is claimed to be, Cheyenne Canon ice.
